

Membership Application Process

After three weeks of attending club-training activities, a prospective member will be required to pay $250 training fee, and will be required to submit a membership application. After a minimum of six weeks from the receipt of the application, the prospective member will be voted on as a probationary member at the next Greater Washington D.C. Schutzhund Group (GWDCSG) general meeting. If the applicant member has not regularly attended club activities, they will not be considered for probationary membership.

There will be a six-month probationary period for accepted probationary members. Probationary members have the right to fully participate in official club activities and functions. Probationary members do not have voting privileges in club business, but must abide by the rules, regulations and by-laws of the GWDCSG.

At the end of the six-month probationary period, the probationary member will be voted on as a full club member. Full club members have the right to fully participate in all club activities, and have full voting privileges in club business, and must continue to abide by the rules, regulations and by-laws of the GWDCSG.

The $250 training fee is non-refundable and does not automatically entitle the applicant to a membership in the GWDCSG. However, if the applicant is voted in as a probationary member, the training fee will be applied to their membership dues.

I have read and fully understand the above stated application process. I agree to abide by the rules, regulations and by-laws of the Greater Washington D.C. Schutzhund Group. I am aware that training fees are non-refundable.
